

CHRIST UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL OF EDUCATION
FEEDBACK ANALYSIS – 2023

Feedback for the curriculum was collected from the students, parents, teachers and alumni through Google form for quantitative measures and a few qualitative open-ended questions were also taken. The feedbacks were analysed and changes were made in the curriculum.

Followings are the number of people who gave their feedback through G Forms. 17 Parents, 25 Students, 3 Teachers and 15 Alumni.

Over all the parents, students, teachers and alumni were happy with the curriculum. Some of the students and parents emphasized on implementing and adding some moral/value education aspects in the curriculum. Accordingly Holistic education classes were added in the curriculum. The teachers, alumni and some parents appreciated saying that the curriculum focuses on preparing teachers with 21st century skills and be competent teachers. The alumni said that the curriculum is updated and provides required skills to be effective in changing world. They also pointed out that pedagogical methods can be emphasized so that students can learn content delivery skills. The teachers expressed that some of the topics can be systematically arranged so that students learn step by step. This was implemented by spreading the syllabus across the semesters.

Some students and parents expressed that the workload is more for the students. This issue was addressed by meeting with the students and writing the assignments and others works in creative and different way. Accordingly, students used their creativity and new ideas in their works.

Students expressed that more classroom management strategies should be given to the students while they are in the college, which will help them during the internship. Accordingly, sessions were arranged from the experienced teachers for the students.

This course could have been a year course though it provides an experience of teaching for 5 months during the course itself. The second year provides stress for parents like me in terms of course fee and accommodation for an extra year.

The focus is more on attendance and punctuality rather than value-based education. Biases exist in certain areas which should be addressed urgently.

It is better to have a depth learning and reflecting on the giving Syllabus

Very good opinion

The curriculum is fit to prepare a teacher for future.

No

Curriculum is well planned and packed with whole year activities.

Good.

Curriculum can be made in such a way that it doesn't affect the mental health of the student.

1. Studying about Educational Philosophies/Philosophers/Education Psychology tools can be included as part of a reading habit in all the 4 semesters
2. We are currently addressing the "how" to be an effective teacher through courses and internships and various hands-on exposure.

Assessments can be given in consideration of the time needed for completion of the same.

Can reduce the complexity of theory sessions and include more of practical sessions and demonstrations.

I feel this B.Ed curriculum is excellent to cater to the IB and IGCSE method of teaching and learning practices. Christ B.Ed. is very good if we want to make a career teaching in the international boards. This B.Ed. curriculum is at par with international teaching and learning standards, I feel. The method of teaching learning practices in Indian boards remains very much the same until NEP 2020 is strictly put into practice in the Indian school system.

more practical experiences would help better.

In the curriculum, there could be sufficient time and space to imbibe, learn and live of what is being taught.

Nil

Distribute IB courses across 4 semesters

Distribute IB courses across the 4 semesters.

The curriculum is a bit stressful with a lot of elements to be completed in a 4-month semester. Events seem to be very fast-paced.

Good

Suggestion: To design the curriculum such that the theory taught in the syllabus helps in internships, the curriculum can include teaching us classroom management strategies and how to deliver effective teaching.

N/A

The curriculum is well-fitted for a 21st century teacher.

The syllabus is good but the space and time to self-study, analyse, think about what have been discussed in class and the content learned need to be given.

Nothing

Can add value based teaching

It's for international level

Syllabi are too heavy. overloaded works and schedules are not practical. Some courses are irrelevant for the B.Ed. students. More practical knowledge should be given to students.
