Feedback Analysis Report- 2016-17

DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS

The Department of Economics engages in meaningful revisions of the curriculum of various programs that it offers every year. The purpose of such revisions is to enhance student learning, improve quality of instruction and ensure relevance of the curriculum to the real-world issues and events. Students should be able to develop skills that are employable as well as transferable to the understanding of several of the societal problems that confront us and find creative and practical solutions for the same. While doing so, the theoretical and analytical aspects of the courses offered in the discipline are also given adequate attention given that there are several students who may wish to pursue higher studies or careers in teaching, research and academics at large.

Curriculum development and revision process in the Department of Economics involves a four-step process:

Stage 1: We collect both quantitative and qualitative feedback on the curriculum every year from various stakeholders such as students, alumni, employers and teachers.

Stage 2: Feedback analysis is conducted using descriptive statistics to identify areas of strengths and weaknesses. Qualitative comments are also analysed for identifying areas for improvements as well as for initiating new courses in the curriculum.

Stage 3: Based on the feedback analysis results, the Curriculum Development Committee (CDC) meets to discuss the opinions and feedback provided by various stakeholders on the basis of which changes or revisions to the existing curriculum are suggested. The action taken by the CDC with respect to curriculum revision is placed for discussion and approval at the Department for ratification by all the faculty members. The CDC meets to finalise the revisions in the curriculum and creates a proposal for changes to be placed in the Board of Studies for approval.

Stage 4: The Board of Studies meeting is conducted annually. The CDC proposal for revisions is placed for approval during this meeting. The BOS members consist of CDC members of the faculty as well academic, industry and alumni members who are experts in the field. After discussion and deliberations, the courses or changes approved by the BOS members are incorporated in the curriculum for the academic year.

Given below are the summary of feedback analysis conducted by the Department.

Major Suggestions by stakeholders:

Students:

1. The syllabus is rigorous and updated but it can be streamlined to make it more spaced out
2. The reading materials can be more precisely specified
3. The course can be slower paced and go into depth of the topics

Alumni:

1. The course can have more emphasis on a quantitative approach and include advanced statistical analysis
2. The textbooks used for some papers can be more advanced especially for UG final years
3. The overall curriculum is good updated

Teachers:

1. The curriculum can be further strengthened to enhance the independent thinking of students
2. Course content changes can be introduced to incorporate research-oriented teaching
3. Microeconomics and macroeconomics courses can include application-oriented content

Based on the feedback the CDC met to discuss the changes required in the curriculum.

Meeting Date and Time: 5-01-2016 at Room No.110, Block IV at 3 PM

Agenda of the meeting: To discuss changes required in all the programs of the Department of Economics based on feedback from stakeholders and present the same for approval in the forthcoming Board of Studies Meeting, 2016-17

The Curriculum Development Committee has discussed and recommended changes to the curriculum for the year 2016-17 based on opinions and suggestions from all stakeholders such as students, teachers, alumni and employers. Program or course changes have also been recommended based on recent developments in the Economics field, the growth of particular
