Date: 3- 09- 2020

Time: 2:30 pm- 4:30 pm

Participants: Faculty from School of Law

This 2 hour input session was designed to familiarize faculty with different methods of assessment for teaching, and learning online.

By the end of this session the participants were expected to be able to:

- Demonstrate their understanding of open book exams
- Design questions for open book exams for their respective course
- Design alternate methods of assessment that will align with the online modes of assessment
- Review sample assignments designed by their peer group

The session focussed on ways in which assessment methods can be selected in online teaching. It also briefly explained different types of assessment that can be used in the digital medium with specific focus on guidelines to design quizzes, open book and closed book exam with a focus on higher order thinking skills, supported with examples of question types. Samples of questions for open book exams were shared and participants were asked to explain the appropriacy of the samples for open book exams. The session concluded with discussion on effective means to creat assessment processes online that will help students to perform to their optimum capacity.
